

Existing Plumbing System Disclaimer

As a professional contractor, GPM-PLUMBING accepts full responsibility and liability for all materials and labor that we supply. Naturally, we cannot do this for labor that you choose to supply.

In order to eliminate any potential misunderstandings, please be aware of the following obligations you assume when you choose to have us work on your existing plumbing system:

1. You must assume full responsibility and liability for the installed plumbing by a third party e.g. rough-in plumbing etc. We will only warrant the labor that we installed e.g. finish plumbing (Trim-Sets).
2. In the event of damaged parts, wrong installation (not to the manufacturer's specification) or any other problem concerning your existing plumbing system, you must assume full responsibility and liability for correcting them, as well as negotiating the terms of resolution with the previous plumber.
3. As the supplier of the existing plumbing system, you must assume full responsibility and liability for assuring that the installation meets all applicable codes and ordinances.
4. You must understand that any wrong installed plumbing may alter our work schedule and may result in additional time charges to you at regular hourly rates.
5. As the supplier of the existing plumbing system, you must assume full responsibility and liability for all guarantees and warranties pertaining to this plumbing system. You shall hold the contractor harmless for any product or system malfunctions related to defective installation purchased from other sources.
6. You must understand that the above conditions do not encompass all possible circumstances that could delay work or result in additional job costs stemming from your existing plumbing system.
